Re-run of Run-Off Dumps Six More Inches (Of Rain -- What Else?) on Saturated Town

DON'TA PARK HERE: This is the--uh--parking lot/near Kingston where you leave your car when you go canoeing on the Millstone River. One car owner went canoeing a little too long and found the car itself transformed into a canoe. That's the Kinston Bridge on the right.

"If you'd told me a week ago we'd have to go through it all again..." Sunday night, six days after last week's nine-incher, Princeton took another deluge. And although this community was spared the record flooding that almost drowned Trenton, there was more than enough water to go around.

On Riverside Drive, weatherman David Ludlum had 8.1 inches in his own backyard rain gauge. His Science Associates colleague, Daniel Mazzarella, collected 6.33 inches at his home on Magnolia Lane, 4.06 between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. Leith Holloway, of the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics lab., had 5.84 inches at his home on Monroe Road. "I got 3.5 inches in that first big gush around six o'clock Sunday," Mr. Ludlum reports, "and 4.68 inches between that one and -- well, I went to bed at 2 a.m. before it stopped."

"It was a continuous thunderstorm," he continues, "I've never seen one last so long. It just kept rejuvenating itself, and feeding on the moist, tropical air that's been here for ten days."

Southwest wind, during that first 6 p.m. gusher, brought even more warm moist air for the insatiable thunderstorm to feed on.

All-Time Record. Mr. Mazzarella tallies 18.59 inches of rain for Princeton so far in July -- with a week still to go. Trenton weather bureau figures show a high of 15.22 inches in July of 1880, and an all-time, all-state record of 25 inches for Paterson, in September, 1882.

Princeton was an island -- or, if you prefer, a sea. It was almost impossible to get in or out of town Sunday night.

A family that had gone to the shore had to spend the night in a Cranbury motel. Another family, off on a visit to Philadelphia, arrived home at 2 a.m. Still another, in Trenton, got back home to Princeton by way of Kingston, and found that community in eerie, total darkness.

illuminated only by the headlights of cars feeling their way along what they hoped were safe roads. Incidentally, the Delaware River was never in flood stage, and in fact, is nine feet below flood level.

Monday and Tuesday, Princeton residents shook off the water, like half-drowned puppies, and went back to routine. Commuters found the Dinky jammed to the doors with riders who usually drive to the Junction, but were turned back at the Penns Neck circle or at Alexander.

Trains were brought from New Brunswick, because the Penn Central tracks in Trenton were six feet under water. These trains were packed, these hot and steaming days, like troop trains and sometimes half the commuters were left behind on the platform because there wasn't enough room in the sardine can.

Property Re-assessment? Township Committee member Elizabeth Hutter, who has long experience in environmental matters, believes home-owners with repeated damage are entitled to re-assessment of their property, on the assumption that constant flooding has reduced the value of the property.

"If you pay $2,000 or so a year in taxes, it seems to be you deserve some relief," she says, "You can argue that the Township allowed this to happen, and ought to share in the burden."

She mentions home-owners at the mercy of rapacious Harry's Brook, who lost a chunk of their yard -- a 17-foot-wide chasm -- after Doria, in 1971. In this particular part of the Township, Mrs. Hutter says, Harry's Brook was diverted from its channel, the land filled in and a house built there. Now, she surmises, the brook is trying to find its way back to its own channel. "We've made it go where it's not meant to go," she says, "we shouldn't have allowed streams to be moved."

Today, you can't build in a flood plain. But Princeton is suffering from the more casual approach of years back, and Mrs. Hutter shakes her head and sighs, "I don't know what the answer is."

However, she does have some proposals, if not answers. A recent in-depth -- when the water was shallower! -- survey of Harry's Brook known as the Killam study, produced a mass of data.

Enlarge Culverts? "Put all the relevant figures in that report into a computer to see what effect we'd have if we enlarged the culverts at Randall Road and at Braeburn without a simultaneous enlargement of the bottlenecks downstream. I'm not certain of the effect, but these questions must be answered. If you let water through faster, it gets to the next bottleneck faster, and so on and so on "and it could create more problems downstream, to enlarge those culverts."

She would also like a similar study made of Mountain Lakes Brook, the one that harasses residents of Red Hill Road and the Laurel Circle neighborhood before it flows finally into Stony Brook. Mountain Lakes Brook's area isn't intensely developed in its flood plains, and future development can be controlled.

One way to control a flooding stream is to provide a retention basin. The one on the IDA property, off Terhune, and the even larger one on the Thanet property nearby, apparently did very well in the First and Second flood, Mrs. Hutter has learned.

A retention basin retains the water of the stream entering it, and allows it to flow out at a controlled rate. Two such basins are planned for PCH Village, near IDA and Thanet.

"They are very important," Mrs. Hutter says with urgency, "Mr. Hodak's specifications for them have been criticized as too stringent, but I support them wholly." Mr. Hodak is the Township engineer.

Also, Mrs. Hutter would like to see the Township's own Committee on Flood Control move into action.

"I hope they will examine all these problems. They have the Killam study's basic data to work with. And I'd like to see the new site plan review board consult with this Flood Control Committee and try to get them more involved. We need their counsel!"

"Princeton," she concludes thoughtfully, "is more fortunate than most towns to the north of us, because we're not

The Other Shoe Drops. When Nature dropped the other shoe on Princeton Sunday night, at least six more inches of rain fell on harried residents, many of whom were still in the process of cleaning up from last Monday's deluge.

With the water level elevated from the previous storm it didn't take long for Sunday's rain to run off and flood low lying streets and cellars. Township Chief Frederick Porter said at one period, which he estimated at 11:30 to 2 a.m., "all roads in and out of Princeton were closed."

Again, police in both communities reported no injuries, although Borough Ptl. John Markuson suffered a fatal heart attack at police headquarters just as he was about to begin his 11-7 tour. See page 3.

The area's civil defense shelter in the basement of Borough Hall was manned by Lt. John Bellow, Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm and trainee Randy Sutton. Approximately 50 stranded persons took refuge there and were served coffee. Thirty-seven spent the night.

Calls started coming into Township police at 5:45 and didn't let up, Chief Porter said, until 4 Monday afternoon. Bill Guinn, the desk officer, in the Borough stopped counting after 400, and perhaps he was justifiably miffed when he recalled that some wanted to know when the rain was going to stop or when the water was going to recede. "And these are supposed to be educated people," he said. "I've never seen anything like it and I've lived here all my life."

In the Borough, a large tree on Nassau opposite Chambers fell, bringing a street light crashing down with it. Limbs were down on Chestnut and John. Borough engineering crews were called out at 6:15.

Power Failures. Power was out as much as two hours on portions of Bayard Lane, East Nassau, Stockton and John Street. When the power went out, sump pumps stopped.

At 2:30 in the morning a large tree at Morven fell across the Borough parking lot, blocking half the lot. There was heavy flooding again on lower Hamilton Avenue near Snowden.

On the Princeton University campus, 190t Hall had eight feet of water in its basement. John Kellock, manager for building maintenance, says there was no serious flooding above basement levels, and he adds,

"No drainage system could

Heart Attack Claims Life of Veteran Policeman

John Markuson, 210 Fisher Place, Penns Neck, a Borough patrolman for 23 years, died Sunday night of a heart attack, which he suffered when he was about to begin his 11 to 7 tour of duty. He was 59.

Ptl. Markuson had planned to retire in another year and a half with 25 years of service and move to the Jersey shore where he had a home. He joined the Borough force February 15, 1952.

According to Capt. Theodore Lewis, Ptl. Markuson had gone to the police locker room and had just changed into his uniform when officer William Clark rushed up at 10:55 to report that he had collapsed. Lt. John Bellow, a police instructor in cardiac and pulmonary resuscitation, Sgt. Robert Anderson, Sgt. Thomas Michaud, Ptl. David Alston, Ptl. Peter Hanley, Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm and trainee Randy Sutton rushed down to administer first aid. Ptl. Wilhelm and Officer Sutton are also trained in cardiac aid, Capt. Lewis said.

"We gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation ... everything we could give him," reported Capt. Lewis. Two minutes later, the First Aid Squad arrived and Ptl. Markuson was rushed to Princeton Medical Center where an emergency staff was standing by.

There Dr. Frank A. Sparrow

also tried to revive Ptl. Markuson until 11:30, when he pronounced the officer dead.

Borough flags will fly at half-mast in Ptl. Markuson's honor until August 4. His fellow officers are wearing black tape across their badges in mourning for the soft-spoken patrolman who in recent years worked as a desk officer. No matter how hurried, he answered every call with "Princeton Borough Police, Patrolman Markuson speaking."

Born in Perth Amboy, Ptl. Markuson had been a Princeton area resident for 30 years. Before joining the police, he had been an employee of Princeton University.

During World War II, Ptl. Markuson was a crewman aboard the submarine USS Barb, which received two presidential citations with a silver star. He himself was awarded a Silver Star for volunteering to land on the east coast of Japan as part of a demolition attack.

Ptl. Markuson was a member of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association No. 130, Princeton American Legion Post 76 and the Princeton Rod and Gun Club. He was an exempt member of Engine Company No. 1, Princeton Fire Department.

He is survived by his wife, Jean Hardy Markuson; two sons, George Edward of Brielle and Robert Arthur of the Republic of Singapore; a daughter, Judith Ann, at home; two brothers, George of Clearwater, Fla. and Arthur of Milton, Del.; four sisters, Mrs. George Pepper of Manasquan, Mrs. Joseph Mazzeriello of Milton, Del., Mrs. Edna Hospador and Mrs. George Chadkowski, both of Perth Amboy.

Funeral services will be 10 a.m. Saturday from the Mather Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. Interment will be private. Friends may call from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at the funeral home. Contributions may be made to the American Heart Fund.

BOATING MISHAP FATAL

To Youth in Maine. Robert K. Cobb, 17, died July 17 near Belgrade Lakes, Maine, when the aluminum mast of his sailboat touched a 7,200 volt power line that crosses a stream leading from a pond.

He was the son of Phillip Cobb, acting Principal of the Middle School and Elizabeth Nawrath Cobb of 355 Walnut Lane. The Cobbs run Camp Runoia for girls there, but Robert was working as a counselor for another camp at the time of the accident.

According to witnesses, young Cobb was alone in a Hobie Cat sailboat, which has what is considered to be an unusually high mast for a sailboat, 20 feet tall, the top of which came in contact with the high voltage line as he was attempting to pass under it.

Observers stated the youth appeared to have his hands on both the metal mast and the aluminum railing at the time he hit the wire. He doubled up and went over the side.

Rescue efforts were made immediately by two other boats in the area at the time of the 3 p.m. accident. Dr. Anthony Betts of Waterville, Maine, who performed the autopsy, said there were burns on the victim's thigh and foot. He said his report would state his opinion that electric shock was the cause of death, adding that the condition of the youth's lungs did not indicate drowning.

Born in Princeton and educated at Princeton schools, he would have been a senior at Princeton High School in the fall.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, Eric, and two sisters, Pamela and Cassandra; his paternal grandfather, Roland Cobb of Cape Elizabeth, Me.; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. C. T. Cobb of Baltimore, Md.; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frederick Nawrath of Salisbury, Conn., and two aunts.

A graveside service was held in the Friends Cemetery, Portland, Maine. Contributions may be made to the Pine Tree Campership Fund, in care of the Morning Sentinel, Waterville, Maine.

"We're half-way there," the mayor observed, referring to his efforts to get income ceilings raised for Princeton. Two weeks ago, the Federal Housing and Urban possibly handle that freak water-level load."

"Many alarms were sounding, there was water in peoples' cellars and cars were disabled all over the place," summed up Capt. Theodore Lewis.

In the Township it was more of the same only more widespread: limbs down, cellars flooded, cars stuck, wires down. During the height of the storm about 15 persons waited in Township Hall for waters to recede. Two families on Westerly Road were evacuated at 10:50 because of high water; a Mansgrove Road family was advised to leave their home because water was almost touching electrical boxes. A Riverside drive home had eight feet of water in its cellar.

A wire arched while a Public Service crew was working on a fallen wire on Longview Drive, causing the gas service main to catch fire. The residents were evacuated and the gas shut off. A transformer south of Bruer's Hill was on fire at the start of the storm.

Power went out in portions of the Township's west end, Bayard Lane and Birch Avenue. Electric power was restored to the east side of the Township at 8:35 and then reported off again at 9:41. Stuart Country Day School had to switch to emergency power when one of its transformers began smoking.

Roads impassable. A foot of water covered 206 South between Princeton and Province Line Road; Harrison, Washington Road and Alexander were all flooded; U.S. 1 was closed south of Penns Neck; Mercer and Quaker Road were flooded and barriers washed out; the Great Road, Mountain Avenue and Winfield Drive area was under water where Sgt. Robert Heacock rescued a driver of a stalled car and brought him to headquarters.

A Gallup Road resident reported a group of stranded people at his home at 11:25. As midnight approached there was flooding reported on Locust Lane, Ridgeview. Cars were stalled every where, on 206 North and South, Terhune, Valley Road, Mercer, Birch, Route 27, Herrontown Road, Rosedale Road and Prospect Avenue.

SNOWDEN LANE BRIDGE...or what's left of it. The hole caved in during the First Flood, on July 14, and pieces of the blacktop edge still break off now and again, like peanut-brittle. The hole was completely covered with water. An alert mailman in his truck, saw a piece of protruding blacktop and mentioned it to John Hutter, young son of Township Committee member Elizabeth Hutter. The two Hutters guarded the bridge until Township police arrived, warning motorists who might have tried to cross the flooded bridge, unaware of the yawning hole beneath the flood of Harry's Brook.

A Civil Defense state of emergency was declared at one minute past midnight. Firemen went to the Institute for Advanced Study at 1:07 when smoke was detected in a building but everything checked out, police said.

Police had to provide emergency transportation for a doctor to make a call and take him back to his home on Talbot Lane. Township road crews worked through the night clearing tree limbs and debris from road. The First Aid and Fire Departments were alerted and put on standby.

"There was definitely more water the second time," commented Chief Porter. "It came up fast and it ran off fast." He advised those with flooded cellars to call local plumbers or fuel companies for assistance.

In one respect, Princeton was luckier than its Trenton, Lawrence and Ewing neighbors where the waters did not recede as quickly. But try convincing the home owner who had a game room ruined or the housewife who lost a washing machine. Or the postal employee who reported he had to detour eight miles to cover 600 yards.

HOW MUCH DID IT COST?

Storm Damage: $1.7 Million. How much of an economic knockout did the one-two punch of the two storms have on Princeton?

It's hard to say with any accuracy, because, as Chief Frederick Porter pointed out, "People just don't call up and say I lost a washing machine." But Chief Porter, who is Deputy Director for Civilian Defense in the Township and his counterpart in the Borough, Lt. John J. Bellow, estimate damage from both storms at approximately $1,697,000.

Both emphasize, however,

Some future July when it hasn't rained for three weeks and lawns and throats are parched, residents in the Princeton area may wish for rain again, but probably not before. This week's precipitation on top of what fell last has left everybody weary of rain.

Hot sunny weather should hold until Thursday when clouds will begin to move in, bringing with them the possibility of more rain, but not in any great quantity. The outlook for the weekend is good.

Development Agency (HUD) allowed a small shift in guidelines which meant that a family of four could pay rents amounting to about 25 percent of income, rather than the impossible 38 to 40 percent which had prevailed before.

"We now have local management of a local project at PCH," Mayor Bleiman said, "and this is very, very important. We want a mix of incomes at PCH, and we must rely on management to insure that we get the right mix."

Three rent levels have been set up for PCH tenants: rent supplement, basic rent and market-level rent. In broad-stroke terms, this means low-income, and two grades of higher income.

Mercer Metro may provide bus service to the project, if present discussions materialize, the mayor said.

LIBRARY STAFF TO VOTE

On Union Representation. Non-professional library staff at Princeton University will vote Wednesday, August 6 on whether they want to be represented for collective bargaining by PULA--the Princeton University Library Assistants Association. PULA is an affiliate of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union.

Last February, PULA petitioned for an election, but the University challenged the appropriateness of the unit, claiming that any unit should be an umbrella, covering all clerical employees of the University and not solely library staff.

The regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, after a three-day hearing, upheld the union and ruled that the library unit was an appropriate one.

PARK 'N' SWIM

But Not at Township Hall. Swimmers have been parking in schools in the Township Hall parking lot--presumably because the juxtaposition of police headquarters makes car burglary unlikely--and the Township's Traffic Safety Committee will report on this state of affairs when Township Committee meets next Monday at 8 in Township Hall.

Community Park pool is only a dog-paddle away from the Township Hall lot, and therefore convenient as well as safe. But so many swimmers--and tennis-players--have been parking there, that taxpayers and others with business in Township Hall, complain they have no place to park.

On the other side of the pool, the Recreation Department itself is unhappy about swimming pool visitors who block exits and entrances outside the pool itself. Emergency vehicles could have trouble getting through, say recreation officials, asking for a parking ban on certain segments of the road.

In similar action, Committee will hear a recommendation from Traffic Safety to prohibit parking on State Road across from the Jack and Jill store. Too many quart-of-milk customers have been parking on that side of the road and risking their lives by sprinting across the highway. State approval would be required for the ban.

Committee also expects to re-schedule the site plan review ordinance amendment exempting developers who came in before the new site plan ordinance.

RATE INCREASE ASKED

For Water Company. Princeton's water company, the Elizabethtown Water Company, is asking the Public Utility Commission for a 12½ percent rate increase, the company announced this week.

"Continually rising costs which are beyond the company's control have prevented the utility from achieving the level of earnings the Commissioners authorized last February," the announcement said.

Elizabethtown asked for a 19 percent raise last July, but the Commission instead granted only a 12.4 percent increase, which became effective February 1 of this year.

Existing rates aren't enough to enable the company to maintain and support its credit, raise the money it needs and provide a reasonable return on the value of its property, the company said in its announcement.

Under the proposed new rates, estimated 1976 revenue would increase from $24,243,000 to $27,300,000, according to company figures. Elizabethtown is also asking for a rate provision to offset changes in the cost of electric power used for pumping, and the cost of water purchased from the state.

The company estimates that the increase would cost residential customers about 70 cents a month.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

In West Windsor. An affirmative action resolution was approved last week at a special meeting of the West Windsor-Plainsboro Board of Education.

The board will name an affirmative action officer, and a committee consisting of a board member, an administrator, a member of the professional staff from each school, three representatives from support groups, two students and two members of the community. This committee will work out an affirmative action plan, and develop ways to implement it.

In allied action, the board reaffirmed its policy of equal education and equal employment opportunity without regard to "sex, race, color, creed, religion, ancestry, national origin, or social or economic status."

Funds Are Sought

Under the auspices of Princeton Interfaith Council, the Committee for Relocation of Refugees has been helping to resettle one family in Princeton and is seeking to help a second family. Funds are needed.

Those who wish to assist are asked to make their checks out to The Lutheran Church of the Messiah, marked "Refugee Relocation," and send to the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Nassau and Cedar Lane, Princeton.

TOWARD A SEWER....

For Pennington. A $2.5 million ordinance to start the Borough of Pennington toward a sewer, was introduced by a 5-0 vote last week by Pennington's Borough Council. One member was absent. Public hearing will be Tuesday, September 2 at 8 p.m.

The $2,566,000 ordinance is designed to finance a local collector system for the Borough. Pennington hopes for 75 percent Federal funding of the sum, and 15 percent funding by the state. The remaining 10 percent--about $300,000--will be borne by Pennington taxpayers.

PAYROLL IS STOLEN

From Construction Trailer. Fourteen pay envelopes containing $2,990.63 were stolen last week from a desk in a construction trailer at the site of the Princeton Housing Project on Bunn Drive.

The theft was reported by an officer of Robbins Construction Co. of Union. Police said that the trailer had been left unattended. Ptl. David Wilbur and Det. Frank Boccanfuso are investigating.

Furniture valued at more than $1,100 was stolen last week from the Workbench, 55 State Road. Taken were a teakwood dining room set ($505), a loveseat ($379), a living room chair ($219) and a swivel chair ($90).

Township police report that entry was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the building.

A refrigerator valued at $400, a $200 automatic washer and a box of men's clothing were reported stolen Saturday from a garage at 64 Harris Road.

Police said that the victim, Mrs. Beverly Triestman, in the process of moving, had discovered the theft while waiting for movers to arrive. There was no sign of any forced entry into the garage.

In another Township theft, Elizabeth Moynahan, 3439 Lawrenceville Road, lost $95 when her shoulder bag was stolen last Wednesday from the front seat of her car parked in a Community Park pool lot.

Ms. Moynahan told police that she had locked her car but had left the window partially open because of the heat. Ptl. William Potts is investigating the theft.

Plant Thief Again. Borough police also had their weekly list of larcenies to report including another plant theft, this time a $10 plant in a white pot from a front porch on John Street. A Skillman resident, sleeping on the grass in the rear of Stevenson Hall, 83 Prospect Avenue, Monday afternoon lost 23 blank checks on the Franklin State Bank in Kingston when her shoulder bag was stolen.

Also inside was her red leather wallet containing $37. She told police that she did not see anyone.

A pocket calculator was stolen between 9 and 11 Saturday night from a rear office in Buxton's Restaurant on Nassau Street (police report the rear door was unlocked) and a citizen's band radio was taken from a car parked Saturday in a Princeton Medical Center lot.

The victim, a Trenton resident, listed the radio's value at $189. Her car had been forced open.

There were three breaking and enterings. A case taken from a dresser drawer in a Chestnut Street apartment yielded $75, a $100 watch and 125 pieces of assorted jewelry.

A kitchen window had been forced to get inside. Sgt. Ralph Procaccino is investigating the theft, reported Friday morning.

An Alexander Street resident told police that someone opened a rear door to his house between 7:30 Saturday night and Sunday morning and removed a back pack. In addition, he lost a wallet containing $25 and a bicycle cable and lock.

While the owners were away, someone entered a house on Hamilton Avenue Sunday by climbing through a back window. Taken were a camera and 59 syringe needles. Police said that the victim is a diabetic.

MAN CHARGED

With Forging A Check. Jerome A. Jones, 19, 145 Rogers Avenue, Hightstown, was arrested Tuesday morning shortly after he tried to cash a stolen check for $400 in the First National Bank.

He had been charged by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt with possession of stolen property and forgery of a check. Police said that the blank check had been stolen from a locker in the Hightstown YMCA. Jones allegedly made out the check to his brother, Jimmy Jones, 21, who, police said, is a suspect in the incident.

According to police, two men tried to cash the check, but later ran from the bank when the clerk told them she would first have to check with a bank officer. The bank's security officer Jerry Dollar alerted police.

Ptl. Lenhardt, aided by Ptl. James Agins and Ptl. William Fitch converged on the fleeing Jones at Nassau Street near Chapel Drive. The second suspect managed to escape.

Charged With Stealing Car. A Kendall Park resident was charged by Township police Friday with possession of a stolen 1964 Volkswagen after he was stopped on Route 206 near the Montgomery Shopping Center by Ptl. Robert Nielsen.

The suspect, Robert P. Aiman, 18, 103 New Road, was later committed to Marlboro State Hospital for psychiatric observation. The car was returned to its owner, identified by police as Cheryl Ashton, an employee of Princeton House, 905 Herrontown Road.

CYCLIST, CAR COLLIDE

On Nassau Street. A 17-year old bicyclist collided early last week with a car as it attempted to pull over to the right curb on Nassau Street between Moore and Washington Road.

Royce W. Flippin 3d, 138 FitzRandolph, the victim, fell to the pavement and struck his head on the curb. He was taken by ambulance to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for lacerations under his right eye and right hand.

There were no charges by Ptl. William Fitch against the driver, Nanette Craig of Kendall Park. Mr. Flippin told police he tried to brake but "probably because of water on the rim of my tire, I kept on going into the right rear side of the car."

DRIVER FINED $210

For Suspension Violation. George E. Tkacs, 86 Spruce Street, was fined $210 Monday in Borough traffic court for driving while his license was suspended.

Mr. Tkacs was also fined $35 and put on probation for one year for leaving the scene of an accident. A third fine of $30 for careless driving was suspended by Judge Philip Carchman.

Karen Gubernat, Hillsborough Road, Belle Mead, and Frank J. Capell, 11 Patton Avenue, were each fined $15 for speeding. A late inspection violation cost Kenneth Yates of Skillman, $10.

In Township court last week, Judge Carchman fined Robin D. Peters, 44 Dodds Lane, $25 each for driving an unregistered vehicle and unlicensed driver.

William C. Dillon, 4 Fieldstone Road, and Jeanine Gentile, 160 Fisher Place, paid $30 and $25 for stop sign infractions. Speeding cost Guy T. Diviaio, 374 Nassau Street, $33.

ROUND TWO THURSDAY

Zoners Vs. 363 Nassau. As promised by attorney William C. Baggitt last month, the Dundas Corporation of Florida will appear before the Borough Zoning Board Thursday evening in Borough Hall.

Dundas is the corporate name for the unfinished building on the corner of Nassau Street and Markham Road, identified as 363 Nassau by the Zoning Board and referred to more familiarly as The Sheehan Building. Construction began in 1967 by builder Timothy Sheehan but halted after the three-story concrete frame was finished when Mr. Sheehan and Borough officials went to court over a zoning dispute.

Essentially, the applicant wishes to enlarge the present ground floor and add two more stories. The existing gross area on the ground floor would be slightly more than doubled to approximately 5,700 square feet; the original retail area on the floor would also be doubled to approximately 4,800 square feet. Zoning figures for retail space are approximately 500 feet less.

To do this, the applicant needs zoning relief in three areas. It needs a favorable recommendation from Mayor and Council for a use variance because the proposed retail expansion is in at RO-1 zone which prohibits retail.

That is the interpretation of zoning officer Donald Harney. Last month, Mr. Baggitt tried to get the board to reverse Mr. Harney's ruling, pointing out that a decision by Judge Frank Kingfield in Trenton had ordered the Borough building and zoning officer to reinstate the original building permit obtained under the old B-2 zoning which allowed retail.

The board refused to overturn Mr. Harney's interpretation so the applicant needs the use variance.

It also needs a waiver of approximately 50 (52 to 54) offstreet parking spaces and bulk variances (floor area ratio and height) for the first floor and proposed two new stories.

Earlier this month, Dundas received a lukewarm endorsement from the Regional Planning Board which said it would not be opposed to the granting of a use variance in view of the unique circumstances of the case. The Regional Board addressed itself only to the issue of the proposed retail expansion, not the addition of more stories.

A second-- and again complicated-- case that will be heard by the board is the continuation of 32 VanDeventer.

Two months ago the applicant, Peter Hodge, had sought a conditional use authorization to convert a multi-family dwelling in the front of the property into four apartments, where four apartments already exist in violation of the zoning law. Mr. Hodge also is hoping for a reversal of a decision by the zoning officer about the continued use of a storage barn in the rear of the property.

The board denied the conditional use that would make the four apartments legal unless Mr. Hodge voluntarily gave up use of the barn in the rear. Mr. Hodge's attorney, Christopher Baker will ask the board Thursday to reconsider granting the conditional use authorization and to allow Mr. Hodge to use the building in the rear with certain restrictions.

Joint Venture, owner of the retail building at Witherspoon and Hulfish Streets, which has room for seven separate stores, is seeking a special exception from the board that would allow it to erect three separate directory signs.

One, measuring 12 square feet, would be placed on the corner of Hulfish and Witherspoon and face Witherspoon; the second, 5.7 square feet, would hang above a common entrance facing Hulfish; and the largest, 24 square feet would face Nassau on Palmer Square.

Under zoning regulations, the applicant is permitted seven separate signs with a combined total of 110 square feet.

In a final application, Harry R. Slayback, 11 Jefferson Road, needs a minor bulk variance to enlarge the rear of his garage.

"Charley's Aunt" moves to Old Nassau and Even Invites Woodrow Wilson to the Romp

After a week of torrential downpours, floods in the basement, and steadily increasing ill tempers, "Charley's Aunt" was just what the meteorologist ordered.

Summer Intime's latest production, a most delightful farce, will continue at the Hamilton Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus July 24 thru 28. Curtain time is 8:30 Thursday thru Saturday; 7:30 on Sunday.

Director Brendan Burke has moved Brandon Thomas' three-act comedy from the traditional Oxford locale to Princeton 1908. The change allows references to Moses Pyne, the Peacock Inn, Prospect gardens, and other familiar local names, as well as turn of the century

IT'S PRINCETON, 1908: That romping old farce, "Charley's Aunt," has been translated from the Oxford of the original, to the Princeton campus of 1908 in Summer Intime's production. Here are Amy (Darcy Jannerone) and Klity (Kimberly Myers) guarded by stalwart Jack (Jim Shankman) and Charley -- he of the Aunt, played by Joseph Harbeson.

American costumes that range from chic to dapper to downright gaudy. There's even the music of "the singing

News Of The THEATRES

Woodrow Wilsons" and a pair of Tiger long-johns to authenticate the Americanization of "Charley's Aunt."

Eric Zwemer as undergraduate Fancourt Babberly, posing as a fellow-classmate's aunt for reasons that are bound to backfire, is the shining star in this talented, smoothly functioning cast. He and all of his cohorts in mischief romp across the stage obviously enjoying themselves and transmitting their glee to an appreciative audience. Zwemer gets good support from Jim Shankman and Joseph Harbeson, fellow-undergraduates of 1908, and Kimberly Myers and Darcy Jannerone as their heart throbs.

Richard Ferrugio, well-known to Intime audiences, does a superb job as the girls' pompous uncle and guardian as he makes a total fool of himself madly dashing after the young man posing as Charley's aunt. When the real aunt - from Brazil - where the nuts come from - appears on the scene, ably played by cool and elegant Anne Sheldon, even more laughter and fun is in store for all. And we rejoice to see her happily re-united with her beau of twenty years ago, a retired navy admiral expertly played by Princeton favorite Herbert McAneny.

Ferrugio's three different sets are so involved as to require long intermissions that test the audience's patience and detract from the fast-paced action, but once in place they work well and provide a sparkling backdrop to the evening's wit and wiles.

It's a pure delight to watch the bits of stage business that distinguish this as a quality

GUITARS AND VOICES

In Summer Sounds Concert. Guitars and voices will blend into more "Summer Sounds" this Thursday evening, as members of the Princeton Folk Music Society present the next free community concert on the front lawn of Westminster Choir College.

Featuring such popular performers from 'our own backyard' as Caroline Moseley, Bob Carlin, Jim Labig, Mary Zikos and Paul Truex, the musical samplings will include traditional American and British folk songs, country and western songs, blues, and sea songs.

The hour-long program will start promptly at 7:30 on the Choir College lawn just off Hamilton Avenue. Ample parking in the lot behind Princeton High School on Walnut Lane is only a short walk away. Those attending should bring blankets or camp chairs.

Raindate is scheduled for the next day, Friday, at 7:30.

COWARD AND LORRE

In Summer Films. Peter Lorre's "M", the 1931 film version of Noel Coward's "Private Lives" and Marilyn Monroe's performance in "Bus Stop" will be screened next week in Summer Intime's film series.

"Private Lives", filmed almost 45 years ago, stars Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery and Una Merkel in the crackling Coward dialogue. It will be shown Monday night.

"M", the one in which Lorre plays the child murderer, hunted by both the law and the underworld, will be shown Tuesday.

"Bus Stop" is Wednesday's offering. The film version of William Inge's Broadway comedy stars Marilyn Monroe as a cafe singer pursued by a wife-hunting cowboy.

All films are screened in McCormick Art Museum behind Murray Theatre. Screening time is 7:30 p.m. and admission is $1.25. Rain checks from films cancelled last week because of the power failure, will be honored until 7:15 p.m. at any film in the series.

"VOICE OF TURTLE"

After "Charley," "The Voice of the Turtle," a tender war-time love story, will follow "Charley's Aunt" on Summer Intime's Murray Theatre stage, opening next

BOB CARLIN is one of the featured performers in the "Summer Sounds" concert scheduled for this Thursday on the Westminster Choir College lawn.

Thursday, July 31, and playing August 1, 2 and 3 and again August 7 through 10. Curtain is 8:30 except on Sunday, when the hour is advanced to 7:30.

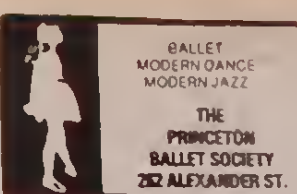

In John van Druten's 1943 play, Anne Hoffman will play the young and aspiring actress, and Jim Shankman will be the serviceman on leave. Katherine Stewart will portray a sophisticated older actress who brings the two together. Mitchell Ivers, Summer Intime's business manager, will direct.

"CHARLIE BROWN...."

By New Theater Group. Still another troupe of players has come from the wings this summer. It's The Summertime Players, and they will make their debut this Friday with "You're A Gnod Man, Charlie Brown," to be presented in the Community Players' theatre, 171 Broadmead.

"Charlie" (not to be confused with Charley's Aunt), will play again this Friday, and next Friday and Satur-

WHEN WORDS FAIL....In Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband," even Shavlan wit falters, and the fist begins to move. Mr. Bompas (Chris Negus) is threatening Mr. Apjohn (Kevin Little) because of poetic advances made by Mr. A. to Mrs. Bompas. That good lady is played by Beth Adler. All are in Twilight Theatre's production.

Bob Celli will be Charlie. Others in the cast are Linda Nicolai, Eileen Kearns, Jeff Heckman, Dale Ducko, Eric Garcia and understudies Jim Streeter, Rich McDonald, Moy Eng and Ann Pilaro.

Janet Wilson is directing and Richard Loatman is in charge of the music. Mike McDowell and Jim Streeter have been assigned sets and lights.

THREE FOR AN EVENING

By Twilight Theatre. An evening of social comedy will follow Aristophanes in Twilight Theatre's summer program. The group will perform three one act plays this Friday and Saturday in the old Nassau Street school building, 185 Nassau. Curtain time is 8:30.

Jules Feiffer's "Crawling Arnold" is a satire in which an American family attempts to cope with the anxieties of the nuclear age. The parents are Susan Cooper-Smith and James Sharp, who worry over their son, played by Rip Pellaton. Nancy Schwellenbach as the persevering social worker and John Chow as Mao complete the chaos.

Julie Bovasso's "Schubert's Last Serenade" offers an absurdist's reaction to the '70's and the possible existential consequences. The romance is supplied by Marjory Jones and John Chow. The romantics are Eric Hollander and Rip Pellaton, and the restaurant help is James Sharp and Jim Dicke.

Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband" uses the theme of a menage a trois in a humanistic farce. The threesome is created by Kevin Little, Beth Adler and Chris Negus.

Lighting is designed by Chris Negus, posters by Liz Fischer and Frank Silver-

ENCORE....

For Davidson Songs. Music and lyric by Robert Davidson of Princeton made last Saturday's Midnight Cabaret audience so happy that there will be a reprise this Saturday. Again at midnight, again in the Lower Room adjacent to Murray Theatre, summer home of Summer Intime. Tickets at the door.

"Devastatingly witty lyrics," is the description of Brendon Burke, who is at Murray Theatre because he directed "Charley's Aunt."

Davidson, says Burke, "is a satirist with the polish of Cole Porter, his parodies are every bit as clever as Dudley Moore's in 'Beyond the Fringe' and 'Good Evening.' From the opening off-beat appeal for happiness by the talented young singers, through a love song on the allure of dental hygiene, to a hilarious satire of a bad showstopper, every item was fresh, witty and wonderfully original."

COUPLE TO PERFORM

In Duo Piano Concert. William and Louise Cheadle, husband and wife duo-piano team, will present a concert at the Westminster Choir College Playhouse, at 8 p.m. on Thursday. The Cheadles are both graduates of the Juilliard School where they each studied with Sascha Gorodnitzki. Mr. Cheadle also did graduate work with Adele Marcus.

Mr. Cheadle has won many awards and prizes, notably the Kosciuszko Foundation National Chopin Scholarship Prize, and the Concert Artist Guild Young Artist Award. He made his New York debut recital at Town Hall in 1964 as the winner of the Concert Artist Guild. Mr. Cheadle has given many solo recitals and has appeared with orchestras in the midwest and along the Eastern seaboard.

Mrs. Cheadle has also performed in solo recitals and has appeared as soloist with orchestras. A chamber music recitalist, she has also given a solo recital on educational television and won awards and prizes.

As a duo-piano and four-hand team, the Cheadles have given recitals from Maine to Florida. They have appeared as soloists with orchestras, as well as performing numerous recitals in the New York-New Jersey area. Later in the fall, they are scheduled to perform a recital at Alice Tully Hall and the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts series.

ACTING CLASSES SET

By Studio Theatre. The Studio Theatre will hold a two-week session in actor training for teenagers and adults, beginning August 4. Classes will meet from 9 to 4 Monday through Friday and will include work in movement, improvisation, theatre games, and acting.

Students in the program will be introduced to the latest techniques and methods for actor training with the work focusing on exercises for developing the actor's instrument (voice, body, imagination) and then utilizing it effectively (scene work).

The instructors in the program will be David F. Eliot an acting teacher and professional playwright, and Ms. Anne W. Scurria an actress who has studied in London, Berlin, New York and at the National Theatre Institute.

Tuition for the program will be $150 with enrollment limited to 16 students. Registration for individual classes will be allowed if space permits. For further information and registration, call 359-4341.

PLAYHOUSE

Love and Death: After last waking up in the absurd future of "Sleeper" Woody Allen in "Love and Death" goes back to 19th Century Russia and uses every known comic device to turn hallowed Russian novels into non-stop hilarity.

A single viewing will probably make it impossible to ever again read Tolstoy or Dostoyevsky with a straight face. Allen, the actor, is the best he's ever been as the bespectacled Boris, a self-confessed coward, who pressed into joining the Russian troops against Napoleon, not only survives, but emerges as an unwitting hero.

He eventually marries his previously unattainable cousin, Sonja, and the two of them embark to assassinate the diminutive French emperor. The rest is hysteria.

Allen, the writer and director, has become less reliant on isolated gags and skits. In this film, he puts his usual abundance of verbal humor, insane sight gags, sly slapstick and glaring anachronisms into a framework rich in both theme and characterization. Even his traditional nebbish character has gained stature, emerging more as a thinking man's bumbler.

In addition to countless set pieces-- a "hygiene play" before the regiment of randy soldiers goes on furlough or Napoleon berating his bakers for coming up with a sickly little pastry destined to bear his name-- there are wonderful little mystic interludes scattered throughout the film.

In one, a dead soldier comes back to life so Allen can get back the deposit on an engagement ring he'll never use. "Get a receipt for tax purposes," the dead friend insists.

Filmed in France and Budapest, the film has been produced on a lavish scale with major battle scenes, Slavic villages and actual palaces that add mightily to the net effect. Diane Keaton, who was with Allen in "Sleeper" again co-stars.

MONTGOMERY

Aloha, Bobby and Rose: A pair of star-crossed young lovers take it on the lam and end up enmeshed in tragedy in "Aloha, Bobby and Rose," a youth-oriented melodrama set in the neon and plastic twilight world of the West Coast.

The appeal to the young is underlined with a rock music soundtrack, a pure, lower-class love story that inevitably leads to violence and an obsession with souped up cars as an extension of the hero's frail ego. Unfortunately, the characters are too shallow for anyone to really care about.

Paul Le Mat and Dianne Hull do as well as they can within the confines of their role as the ill-fated young lovers. After a fake hold up accidentally involves them in murder, it's off down the highway, briefly into Mexico and then back again only to have their love snuffed out in an ambush by trigger-happy cops.

"Aloha" contains smatterings of "Buster and Billie," "Bonnie and Clyde," "American Graffiti" and "Rebel Without a Cause" but the whole is too predictable and no where near their equal.

IT'S NEW To Us

FOR MUSIC LOVERS...

Tech Hifi Opens Here. Seven years ago two M.I.T. students opened a very small store in Cambridge, Mass., with the intention of selling quality hifi components at the "right price." Obviously they knew what sound lovers needed because since then Tech Hifi has grown into a chain of 56 stores.

Although there has been a store on Route One in Lawrence, Tech Hifi chose Palmer Square for the newest location because many Princeton residents, especially the students, had difficulty getting to and from Lawrence.

Manager Tony Levins told us, "In the last four to five years the hifi industry has grown in leaps and bounds as the technology has moved from tubes to transistors (which have a far greater life span.) Also the consumer has been educating himself and hifi is no longer the mystery it once was."

In addition the past few years have witnessed a revolution in all music whether it be jazz, pop or classical, and hi-fidelity equipment is really a by-product of this movement.

Customer's Choice. Tech Hifi only carries components. There are no portable units or TV sets. The advantage here is that you are free to choose the exact speaker, receiver, tuner or turntable that you want and then at any time change any particular part of the overall system. Also, the separate components come with excellent guarantees, generally three to five years.

A list of names you will find here includes: SAE, Phase Linear, JBL, Thorens, Phillips, OHM, Pioneer, Harman-Kardon and Marantz.

If you are new to the hifi field, there is currently a special on an excellent starter system for a small to medium-sized room. This includes a Concord receiver (12 watts RMS per channel), Jensen 1 speakers and a BSR 2260 turntable. While this lists for approximately $385, it is currently priced at $239.

We asked Mr. Levins what he considered the ultimate system you might want to think (or dream) about moving up to. He suggested the SAE Mark 8 tuner, the Mark 9B pre-amp, the Mark 4DM power amplifier, OHM's F speakers and the Phillips GA212 turntable. While you need not buy it all at once, the approximate cost for this total system is $3,000.

Trade-ins. Tech Hifi encourages trade-ins, making it easy to gradually improve your system. There is a 90-day trade-in policy on all purchases and a one-year trade-in on speakers. As long as the component is returned in "as received" condition, you can apply the original purchase price toward a new one. They also accept older pieces and thus there is a good supply of used equipment if you are in the market for such.

Other policies are a 60-day defective exchange on all equipment and a 30-day price protection plan. Tech Hifi discounts all its components and if you can find a lower price within 30 days, they will refund the difference.

We also noticed various accessories such as a record maintenance kit by Watts that includes a disc preener, a dust hug and a stylus cleaner, $15; several stereo earphones such as the Sennheiser HD414, $39; and small 5 1/2 inch Jensen Dynamount stereo speakers just right for a boat, camper, car or whatever, $39.95.

Tape decks for cars are here too ranging in price from $95 to $150. For these and other tape systems Tech Hifi carries a 90-minute jamproof tape by Audio Magnetics on which you can record your own mood music. As an opening special, these tapes and all cartridges are 10 percent off until the end of July.

Tech Hifi, located at One Palmer Square (just across from the Post Office), is open Monday through Saturday from 10 to 6 with Thursday and Friday evening hours until 8.

RAINY DAY BLUES?

Zinder's Has Some Diversions. This month Princeton has seen an unprecedented amount of rain. Everyone seems to have at least one incredible story whether it be about floating Volkswagens or basement swimming pools. Fortunately half the summer remains, and hopefully the sun will emerge in time to salvage some of the flowers, vegetables and fun.

In the meantime, the age-old problem of entertaining the children remains. So last week we visited Zinder's in search of some indoor activities.

The first thing we noticed was a wonderful beehive complete with swarming bees built with over $300 worth of Lego pieces. While not many children would hope to own this much Lego, the hive does draw attention to the fact that Zinder's has a complete line of these building sets.

In addition to the basic bricks, these sets include enough shutters, windows, wheels and rooftops so that a child is only limited by his imagination. The basic sets start at $8.99 for a box with 184 pieces and go up to a set with 413 pieces for $22.99.

There are also lots of small boxes with just the right pieces for building a Biplane, a rescue helicopter, a steam shovel and carrier or a London double-decker bus. Then there are sets that when built make a Swiss Villa, a Fire House, Heliport or a Brick Yard.

Completing the picture there is a special motor set, large bricks for pre-schoolers and brand new building sets that include Lego people. All in all the prices range from $1.49 to $28, generally depending upon the number of pieces in a set.

Crafts are also great rainy day activities and they usually provide something enjoyable for many months to come. There are Make It and Bake It kits for creating "stained glass" ornaments such as an owl, sailing ship or a Raggedy Ann, $1.99.

If you have admired those pretty glass gardens set on colored sand designs, there is a kit for this too, $5.69 and this includes the planter, sand, instructions and seeds.

With a paint-by-number kit you can make two 10" x 14" Holly Hobbie pictures or you can build a collector's wooden box and then fill it with your own nostalgic treasures or use the seeds and nuts included with the kit. We also saw beginning needlepoint kits and the all-time favorite -- a weaving frame with loops and a hook for making potholders, $1.39.

And if the sun ever does materialize, Zinder's still has a great selection of outdoor toys -- including croquet sets, baseball bats and mits, skateboards, a marvelous knotted rope to hang from a tree, hoola hoops and frisbees. There is even a book called "Backyard Games" that is sure to settle all disputes.

Located at 102 Nassau Street, Zinder's is open Monday through Friday from 9 to 5:30 and on Saturdays from 9 to 5.

Borough police Thursday charged Milton Turner, 37, of New York City with attempted breaking and entering and possession of burglar tools.

Turner, who was found to be in violation of parole from a New Jersey state prison, is presently being held in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

"He gave us a heckuva a chase before we were able to catch that guy," commented Capt. Theodore Lewis, one of a half-dozen officers who pursued the suspect over backyard fences on Library Place. Turner was finally apprehended by Lt. John J. Bellow on the Princeton Seminary grounds.

Well-dressed and wearing an expensive watch and ring, Turner was first observed by a Stockton Street resident who told police he had tried to enter several rear patio doors of his house, trying each one in turn. When asked what he was looking for, the suspect replied the "Princeton Seminary" and left.

His description was broadcast by police and Capt. Lewis, driving an unmarked car, saw him in the driveway at 73 Stockton. When Capt. Lewis asked the suspect for some identification, he dropped his briefcase and fled, leaving the officer behind in the car and almost bumping into an arriving backup car driven by Ptl. John Holcombe.

Turner ran down a backyard on Library Place hopping fences with police in pursuit. His briefcase was later found where he had hidden it by a porch. Capt.

Lewis quoted Turner as saying, "I didn't know you had so many cops in Princeton; everytime I was about to break free another one would pop up."

the Yedlin public housing project from the Planning Board's conditional approval of site plans.

Meanwhile, developer Benedict Yedlin and the Princeton Housing Authority are on this Wednesday's Township Zoning Board agenda, asking the board to over-rule zoning officer W.J. Shinn. Mr. Shinn has said Mr. Yedlin and the Authority must go back to the Zoning Board for a new use variance and other approvals, because their plans have changed from the plans originally approved.

Neighbors opposing the Mt. Lucas Road project not only appealed the Planning Board's site plan approval, but asked Committee to reconsider the fundamental decision to allow 100 units on the site.

Compromise on the number of units is still a possibility, Mayor Jay Bleiman told his press conference Tuesday. He suggested a mix of 50 elderly and 20 family units. Present plans call for 60 elderly and 40 family.

"I believe the objections center on the number of family units," the mayor said, "It's in everyone's interest to reduce or eliminate as many objections as we can."

In regard to reducing the number of units, the mayor said the number could be reduced if the Planning Board thinks its environmental conditions can't be met otherwise. He emphasized that this would be quite different from a change of mind on the part of Committee.

Attorneys are still examining the question of Committee's own power to change the number of units.

"I'm under the impression that because the matter is under litigation (opponents have taken the Township to court), we should not act," the mayor commented.

CHAMBER PREPARES

For Bicentennial Influx. The Princeton Chamber of Commerce will hold its second retailers' meeting Thursday, July 31 at Borough Hall at 5:30. Shops from the entire region served by the Chamber have been invited to attend and to contribute ideas towards a promotional program.

During the next year or two, an influx of many thousands of people, in addition to the usual number of visitors, will be coming into the area. The Chamber has already felt the weight of this increase through its telephone and written inquiries.

To welcome these guests to the community and make them aware of the availability of the unique shopping areas, the Chamber is sponsoring a promotion piece that will be distributed through its office, through the shops, and other appropriate outlets.

Retailers who are interested in participating in this program are invited to attend.

OBITUARIES

Henry Glass Munson, Captain U.S.N. (ret.), 65, of 18 Dodds Lane, died July 16 of pneumonia after a short illness in New York Hospital. He was a highly decorated submarine officer of World War II and a developer of the Navy's atomic weapons program.

Captain Munson was a 1932 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy. He received a master of arts degree in physics from California Polytechnic Institute in 1952.

Commander of three submarines at different times during World War II, Captain Munson was credited with sinking the second highest tonnage of the war.

His combat decorations include three bronze stars, a Presidential Unit Citation and three Navy Crosses.

After the war, Captain Munson headed the school of electrical engineering at the Groton, Conn. submarine base. From 1952 to 1956 he was assistant to Admiral Hyman Rickover and responsible for the development of the Mark 45 atomic torpedo and depth charge.

Hydrographer of the Navy for two years, he headed the technical team which investigated the "Thresher" disaster. He also planned and oversaw the first underwater circum-polar navigation by the submarine "Triton."

Upon retiring from the Navy, he became senior research associate at the David Sarnoff Laboratory, RCA, in the advanced military weapons division. In later years he taught physics at Princeton High School.

Surviving are his wife, the former Anna Marie Olsen; two sons, John H. G. Munson of New York and Christopher J. of Cambridge, Mass., and one grandson.

A memorial service was held at St. Paul's Church.

Erik Sjoqvist, 72, died July 16 in Sweden after a long illness. An internationally known archaeologist, he served on the Princeton University faculty from 1948 to 1969 as a professor of classical archaeology.

Dr. Sjoqvist, was a former advisor to the Swedish King and director of the Swedish Archaeological Institute. His discovery of the ancient Greek city Morgantina, an eastern Mediterranean trade center which flourished at about 200 B.C. helped alter theories about Hellenic civilization.

Dr. Sjoqvist located the ruins of Morgantina almost by accident while hiking through the hills of Sicily in 1953 as part of a 5,000 mile archaeological expedition. The find made him one of the world's most prominent scavengers, and he spent much of the rest of his life on expeditions and archaeological digs.

Born in Ronneby, Sweden, he received most of his formal academic training in his native land. He served on the faculties of the University of Stockholm and Swedish Archaeological Institute. From 1931-1940 he was librarian at the Royal Library of Stockholm.

He is survived by his wife, Gurl.

Mrs. Alberta Bauer, 94, of 128 Bayard Lane, died July 19 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center. Born in Roselle, she lived in Elizabeth until 1929 when she moved to Princeton.

Mrs. Bauer was a member of the Springdale Golf Club and the Hospital Aid Committee of the Princeton Medical Center.

The widow of Jacob L. Bauer, former chief engineer of the New Jersey Highway Department, she is survived by a son, J. Louis Bauer, of Denmark, Maine; a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Kassler of Princeton, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be

Princeton Scores Are High on State Tests, But School Staff Is Still Critical of Design

Princeton's fourth, seventh and 10th-graders do all right, compared to public school students throughout New Jersey. Results of the third state-wide testing program held in November, were released last week.

The 1974 tests may be the end of the state's testing program because the Office of Assessment was wiped out when the state's Department of Education was forced to make budget cuts.

The tests are designed to show which New Jersey districts need help, which ones are successful (and, perhaps, why) and how a given district can improve itself. Also, test results may help a school district decide how to allocate its resources and develop its educational programs. And of course, test results can show student progress.

The 1974 tests were designed under state contract by Educational Testing Service. They were developed to measure the achievement of fourth, seventh and tenth-grade students in reading and in math.

Individual student results have been released to individual schools. The reporting has been improved, according to Charles Huchet, Director of Student Services, and it's easier now to interpret a child's scores to the parent.

Parents who want to find how a child performed, should call the school in which the child was enrolled last year, and make an appointment. Score reports must be interpreted to parents by a staff member who has the professional expertise to explain what scores mean.

Scores of Princeton's school children for the 1974 tests are compared to those of two groups: suburban, and so-called DFG-J.

In the past, the Princeton Regional System has been included in the group made up of all regional systems in New Jersey. This year, however, Princeton chose instead to compare its schools with those in suburban districts, because the comparison is closer. As a group suburban districts tend to score higher than the regional districts.

In addition, the state assigned each district a "district factor score" (DFG), based on socio-economic data from the 1970 census. Princeton was assigned to the "J" district, the highest-scoring group of schools in the state, and therefore, the highest scoring group with which Princeton can be compared.

As test data were received, each school in the Princeton district made a two-phase evaluation. In Phase I, the staff was concerned with how the school (and the district) was achieving its own stated objectives. Should curriculum be changed? Should ways of instruction be changed? How can the school best understand its own strengths and weaknesses?

In Phase II, staff members compared the achievement of their own school with that of the Princeton district as a whole, and that of the district with that of suburban and DFG-J districts. The state specified which staff members should be involved with interpreting test results.

Grade 4, Reading. "Overall satisfactory achievement," was reported for this group, although the tests showed up areas where work is needed: short vowels, vowel, diagraphs, and so on. These needs varied from school to school.

In 91 percent of the cases, Princeton's results were "roughly equivalent" (within five points, plus or minus) to the high-scoring DFG group, and in 8 percent of the items, "significantly" higher. In 33 percent of the items, Princeton was higher than the Suburban scores.

Grade 4, Math. As in reading, so in math: Princeton's fourth-graders "performed particularly well." Items in all tests, reading and math, are arranged in clusters, and in some Grade 4 math clusters, performance was "uniformly high" while in others, there was quite a difference from school to school. The teaching staff is now trying to find out why.

Incidentally, Dr. Huchet points out that differences between schools could be traced to school size. For example, in a small school like Johnson Park, one student giving a wrong answer could lower the total percentage by as much as three percent points.

In 94 percent of the items, Princeton's scores were roughly equivalent to the DFG, and in 16 percent of the items, Princeton did better than suburban. Of the Grade 4 math results, Dr. Huchet says, "We performed as well as the highest performing group but no better."

Grade 7, Reading. These Middle School students produced results that were "generally quite satisfactory...and there is no indication of a need to make major adjustments in the curriculum," says Dr. Huchet's report. As in the fourth-grade, technical weaknesses were observed — short vowels, and so on —

"which have been noted for review and further emphasis next year."

In 85 percent of the items, Princeton's was roughly equivalent to DFG and in 19 percent of the items, significantly higher than Suburban. Princeton was "significantly lower" in only four of 86 items.

Grade 7, Math. Dr. Huchet reports that Middle School teachers saw "many specific skill areas where they expected higher performance," but the school was roughly equivalent to the DFG in 61 percent of the items, and significantly higher in 24 percent. The school came out significantly higher than Suburban schools in 34 percent of the items and equivalent or better, in 81 of the 82 items in the math clusters.

Grade 10, Reading. Overall results here are regarded as "satisfactory or better," although staff found that study skills in particular are "in general need of strengthening."

Princeton High's sophomores were roughly equivalent to the DFG in 76 percent of the items, and significantly lower in 19 percent. Unlike fourth and seventh graders, tenth graders did not do too well when compared to the DFG group. They came out better in comparison with the

Princeton Still Critical of State Tests

Princeton's teachers and psychologists still have criticisms and reservations about New Jersey's state-wide tests, although Dr. Charles Huchet, director of student services, acknowledges that some improvements have been made since Princeton sharply criticized the first 1972 tests.

The physical design of the tests is now better, directions for administering them are clearer, the interpretive manual has been upgraded, construction of test items has improved and some of the interpretive procedures have, also, reports Dr. Huchet.

Dr. Huchet's Number One complaint is that it takes so long to get results. Tests are given in November, but results aren't available until late spring. "Information should be available to teachers early enough in the year for them to work with students," he suggests.

There isn't any information on item reliability, he continues. That means the degree to which individual items measure the same skill or process.

Also, Princeton and other districts have no way of knowing, according to Dr. Huchet, what constitutes a statistically-significant difference between the way Princeton scored on an item, and the way DFG or Suburban scored. "Lack of information on this point constitutes a serious problem in making sound or valid comparison," he says.

It is Princeton staff members themselves, who lacking a state guideline, decided that a five-point difference would be "roughly equivalent." (A 5-10 point difference is "significant"; 10 points or more, "highly significant," by Princeton's tape measure.)

Y' All Come!

Want to bid on a tennis or guitar lesson, or commission a home-cooked meal? An old-fashioned services auction and country social will be held this Sunday, rain or shine, at Baumecker's farm on Wargo Road in Pennington. Supervised games will be conducted for children while parents and others relax and enjoy the auction. Admission is free and there will be hot dogs, beverages, and homemade desserts for sale. Local personalities will serve as auctioneers.

The steering committee is composed of Ann Baker, Nancy Centra, Margaret Cousins, Dorothy Katz, Martha McDougald, Dorothy Jacobson, Betty Troike, Carol Wachler, and Tammy Wade.

Proceeds will be donated to the Hopewell Valley Reading and Recreation Program for Trenton children. For further information call Margaret Cousins 737-0225.

Suburban group, where 28 percent of the items were significantly higher and only one item of 80, significantly lower.

Grade 10, Math. Princeton High's math teachers are only "marginally satisfied" with the results here, reports Dr. Huchet, but he says that comparisons with DFG and Suburban do not justify the teachers' dissatisfaction.

In 74 percent of the items, Princeton was roughly equivalent to DFG, and in 13 percent, significantly higher. Compared to the Suburban group, Princeton was significantly higher in 40 percent of the items, and roughly equivalent in 57 percent.

"Results of this order do not provide the basis for the math department's negative assessments," Dr. Huchet believes, "such views are based more on high local expectations for performance."

FOURTEEN BORN

At Princeton Medical Center. In the week ending July 20, 11 boys and 3 girls were born at Princeton Medical Center.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Flataw, 18 Benford Drive, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. William A. FUND DRIVE OPENS

For United Negro College Appeal. The 31st Annual drive of the United Negro College Fund opens this week in the Princeton Area. In his announcement of this year's drive, James E. Burke, President of Johnson & Johnson, general chairman of the New Jersey Campaign, said that the national goal has been raised to $15 million.

The area chairman is Dr. Lee Hastings Bristol, Jr., 210 Mercer Street. There are 41 black colleges which comprise the Fund. Without these schools, Mr. Bristol stated, "thousands of young blacks would have no alternative but alienation, rebellion, and despair." Moreover, the average income of families sending students to these schools is below $5,000, making college education impossible without outside help.

A limited mail campaign is being conducted this week in Princeton. But, Dr. Bristol urges all those who do not receive a personal appeal, but wish to do something to help solve the minorities problem facing this country, to invest in the UNCF and help it in raising the educational levels of those constituting the minorities. Checks may be made out to the United Negro College Fund, Inc. and mailed to him at his home address.

Funds for the scholarships come from $3 annual membership dues in The Auxiliary, which is open to anyone, and from money directed to the Scholarship Fund. Mrs. James Chandler is Membership Chairman.

ACTIVITIES VARIED

At Y Day Camp. For the active child seeking fun, excitement and peer group activities, the Princeton YMCA "Summer Discoveries" Day Camp for boys 6 to 9 years old, is available. The daily program includes instruction in arts and crafts, swimming, drama and gym. In addition, each camper spends either the morning or afternoon at a YMCA operated wilderness area near Hopewell learning about ecology and natural wild life, exploring trails and building campsites.

During the third and last session of the summer, the 8 and 9 year old boys will go on an over-night camping expedition with the more experienced leaders. The ecology and wild life programs will be enhanced by the efforts of a university trained expert in these fields who has donated her services to the YMCA.

Does Your Vegetable Garden Have Problems? Rutgers Pros Will Have Some Answers Saturday

"How do I know when to pick my eggplants?"
"What do I do with the green tomatoes that are still on the plants in the fall?"
"I have the same varieties in my garden. Why do yours look better?"
These and hundreds of similar questions are expected to be asked by home gardeners as they tour the flower gardens and the vegetable research farm here during the State University Vegetable-Flower Open House on Saturday, July 26.

"This annual event attracted more than 11,000 gardening enthusiasts last year and there'll probably be more this year since everybody seems to be growing their own vegetables these days," says Bernard L. Pollack, N.J. Cooperative Extension Service Specialist in vegetable crops at Rutgers' Cook College.
Visitors interested in vegetable gardening will be taken on guided tours to see the latest irrigation techniques designed for home gardens; plastic suitable for mulching; demonstrations on how to prune, stake and tie tomato plants for bigger and better quality fruit, as well as experiments being conducted on new varieties of vegetables.

A New Green Bean. "We test the new varieties that come out each year here at the N.J. Agricultural Experiment Station to find out which ones are specifically adaptable to New Jersey's growing conditions," says Dr. Pollack. "The results are the basis for our recommendations."

"The Rutgers, Queens and Ramapo tomatoe plants are the results of our variety test plots and we're about to introduce a new green bean, the Garden of Eden, and a very high quality French muskmelon, Charante. The bean is a Romano-type strictly for the home garden and takes only a minute and a half to cook," he said.

It takes a long time for the public to accept a new variety. Rutgers introduced the Ramapo tomato in 1967 and gardeners are just beginning to ask for it, according to Dr. Pollack.

The Vegetable-Flower Open House is the only time during the year the vegetable farm is open to the public.

Hands Off! "We can't take the chance of letting people roam around on their own. The temptation to pick and eat what they see is too great. They forget this is a research farm and that the plants and fruits sprayed with insecticides, herbicides and fungicides, as part of our insect and disease eradication program, may be harmful to them. Contrary to what many people believe, we do not sell any vegetables from the farm or give plants away for this reason," Dr. Pollack explains.

TIPS ON VEGETABLES FROM RUTGERS: Helen Rayner of 6 Gulick Road, a graduate student in horticulture at Rutgers' Cook College, demonstrates the proper way to tie a tomato plant to a stake. The recommended "figure 8" method and new techniques for home gardening will be shown to visitors at the Rutgers University Vegetable-Flower Open House on Saturday, July 26, on the Cook campus.

Another feature of the day will be the insect and plant disease clinics set up at the Rutgers display garden and the vegetable farm. Each clinic station will be manned by research and extension specialists, agricultural agents and experts in plant pathology and entomology.

Visitors with gardening problems can get firsthand information and on-the-spot diagnosis by bringing a fresh sample large enough for proper diagnosis. Samples in plastic bags closed with wire twistlers are the easiest to handle.

The new concept of a vertical garden designed for small growing areas or a screen for privacy is expected to attract the attention of the flower lovers as they tour the Rutgers Display Garden.

The center feature at this year's annual event is the Bicentennial Garden with flashy red and blue verbena and white dusty miller. This patriotic garden is just one example of what communities can do during 1976 to help celebrate the nation's 200th birthday.

Other features to be seen among the 140 annuals include dianthus in separate colors of coral, pink, crimson, white and scarlet just perfected by plant breeders and shown for the first time; shade-tolerant varieties that can be planted under trees or on the north side of the house; the 1975 All-America winners; new types of snapdragons, and plants suitable for hanging baskets.

The Rutgers Vegetable-Flower Open House program will start at 10 a.m. It is open to the public and free of charge. The gardens are located near the intersection of Route 1 and Ryders Lane in North Brunswick.

Herbal remedies were the beginnings of medicine as we know it today. For example, there are many Chinese herbal remedies of four thousand years ago which were effective in treating disease. One such treatment was the use of the juice of a certain Chinese fir for the treatment of asthma and bronchitis. Not until 1878 was it discovered that this juice contains the alkaloid ephedrine, today almost indispensable in the treatment of pulmonary disorders.

School Salaries Revealed.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Princeton taxpayers may be interested to know how $512,495 for School Administrators' salaries in 1974-75 was distributed.

Heyman	$23,320
Husley	$20,315
Karch	$24,380
McPherson	$31,000

++ On sabbatical leave

The first 14 items (Biringer through Johnson) are taken from the contract between the School Board and the administrators' union. The last six (Evans through McPherson) are from a list of administrators not affiliated with the union.

Figures on overhead (secretaries, travel and telephone expenses, heat, light, office equipment and supplies) to maintain these administrators are not readily available. Neither are figures on paid leaves, holidays, health insurance for themselves and families.

At the time I made my inquiries no information was available on how much the $512,495 in administrators' salaries would be increased for the coming year. Also, no figures were available on how much the School Board pays to professional labor negotiators for salary and fringe benefit agreements.

The above list does not include extra stipends paid to "coordinators," i.e. employees who teach up to two or three classes per day. According to the union contract any person holding the Doctor of Education degree who is credited with 13 years of employment is paid around $20,000.

The school year is around 180 days. Half days count as full days. There are many paid days off for "sickness," personal reasons, conferences, illness among dependants, weddings, funerals and helping to care for new-born infants.

Picnic Enjoyed By All.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The enclosed letter was written by Mrs. Hannah Volk of E-181 Spruce Circle the day following Landau's Senior Celebration at Prospect on the University Campus. This vivacious "oldie" was so enthusiastic about the generosity of the picnic sponsors that she spent her entire Friday morning gathering signatures. The heat of the day finally curtailed her efforts or she would have had many more than 18.

Thanks for Special Picnic.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of the more than 300 seniors who attended our "Senior Celebration" on July 17, we would like to thank the following businesses, organizations and individuals who helped make our picnic very special: Zinders Toys, The Cummins Shop, Lahiere's Restaurant, Radio Stations WHWH and WPST, Urkens Hardware, A & M Fruit, Toto's Market, Nassau Liquors, Hulits Shoes, Gallery 100, Davidson's Market, The Princeton Jaycees, The Junior Red Cross, the Granddad's Barbershop Quartet, Princeton Packet, Street Theatre, and Princeton University, represented by Bub Vivian, Mat Maxwell and Mrs. Margaret Scott.

Special thanks to Mrs. Ruth Cherniss, who conceived the idea of a senior's picnic 2 years ago and whose notes and original thoughts built a foundation for all our work.

Final thanks to Town Topics, for your continuous support in communicating the "celebration" message to our many local senior citizens.

ROBERT LANDAU

Thank You Landaus.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of my mother, Mrs. Jossie Broadway; and I feel more than certain that I can speak for her other senior citizen friends who enjoyed your picnic on Thursday, July 17, I would like to personally give Landau's a standing ovation for making so many deserving people happy that day.

If others could have seen the look of pleasure on those lively senior citizens' faces, as they were being driven to the picnic, I think it would have warmed your heart as it did mine.

The bus picked up the group to whom I refer, on Witherspoon Street at Mount Pisgah Church, but I happened to pass them on Nassau Street as they waited for the light. I looked up and saw my mother on the bus, which is what led me to write this.

I waved to her and the others, many of whom I recognized. They all seemed to have the same happy smile, but it also appeared to be an anxious smile, which led me to believe they were looking forward to Landau's picnic with the same intensity that most children have when looking forward to a big event.

I would like anyone who may not have spoken with any of our local senior citizens since the picnic to know that Landau's picnic really made that a big day for so many who don't have too many other big events to look forward to. So once again, I'd like to say thank you Landaus from my mother and all the other senior citizens who were fortunate enough to be able to attend, even though at the time of this writing my mother isn't aware of this letter.

As a closing note, I hope some of that "full of life spirit" which our senior citizens seem to have rubs off on more of us "not yet senior citizens", because they are truly a group to be admired as I can see Landaus recognizes that too.

Hospital Staff Praised:

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to John W. Kauffman of the Princeton Medical Center.

MURRAY MEDVIN
27 Leavitt Lane

May I take this opportunity to thank you and each and every member of your hospital staff for the kindness and excellent service extended to me during my recent illness. I have had the occasion to visit the hospital many times both as a patient and as a visitor and have seen it grow considerably over the years. It has changed a good deal since my first "visit" in 1957 and I had feared that the size would cause it to lose its capability of extending warmth and friendliness, which was one of its great attributes, particularly, if you are seriously ill.

I am happy to report that it is still a wonderful place if you have to be in a hospital. I would appreciate it very much if you would see to it that my feelings are extended to your staff.

 An oddity about one of the best pitchers in baseball today— Nolan Ryan— is that hardly anybody knows his real first name... Ryan goes by his middle name... His real full name is Lynn Nolan Ryan.

+ + +
 Did you ever hear the story of tennis star Maureen Connolly, and what-might-have-been if she had not been injured?... Maureen won the U.S. singles title in 1951 when she was only 16 and also won it the next two years... She won the Wimbledon championship in 1952, 1953 and 1954... She won the Grand Slam (U.S., British, Australian and French titles) in 1953 at age 18... No one ever won so much so soon as Maureen... But a riding accident ended her career when she was 19... It's interesting to speculate on the records Maureen might have set if she'd been able to play into her 20s and 30s.

MAXI SUCCESS RESULT Of First Mini Swim Meet.
 Twenty-one teams and several hundred young swimmers competed Sunday in the First Annual 8 and Under Mini Meet held at the Community Park Pool.
 The meet was sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department and the Princeton Area Master Swimmers. It was the idea of Tink Bolster, president of the Princeton Master Swimmers, and Lorraine Rizzuto, co-meet directors.

"We felt that 8 and under swimmers," explained Mrs. Bolster, "are generally overshadowed by the older and faster kids and we thought a mini-meet would give them some encouragement and a chance to have the limelight to themselves for once. We just wanted everyone to have fun," she added.

The Nassau Swim Club won the first-place trophy with 193 points. It is coached by Mrs. Bolster's daughter, Carrie. The Valley Swim Club of Flemington placed second with 120 points, and host Community Park was ninth with 38 points.

Becca Dyson, 7, and 8-year old Libby Burkman won first-place trophies in the 25-yard breaststroke. John Bolster, 8, one of Mrs. Bolster's 14 children, brought the Nassau Club its third individual trophy when he swam the 100-yard freestyle in 1:31.0— a new Nassau record.

Nassau also won two more gold medals in relay competition. Van Van Horn, Jon Alberts, Peter Smith and Bolster won the 100 yard and medley relays. Van Horn, Michael Alberts and a medley relay team of Nika Nystrom, Connie Betterton, Alison Fraker and Becca Dyson won second-place medals.

Chip Hector, younger brother of Princeton University swimmer Chuck Hector, and Allen Aiken accounted for most of Community Park's points. Both are seven years old.

Hector captured the breaststroke and freestyle while Aiken won his speciality the 25-yard backstroke in 26 seconds.

Medals and ribbons were awarded to the first eight finishers in each event; trophies were presented to the top three.

NO. 1 CLINCHES TITLE
 In Little League Play. Last week, streaking Engine Co. 1 won both of its games to boost its undefeated streak to 12-0.

More importantly, the wins also clinched the PYBA Little League championship for No. 1 as it opened up a four-game lead over Elks and Engine Co. 3 with only two games left in the season.

Engine Co. 1 had little trouble against Post 76, winning, 13-2. Brent Robinson struck out 12 in picking up the victory. He also had two hits, one a triple, while Judd Petrone, Tom Florence and Steve Johnson each had two hits to lead the offense. Chip Kleiber tripled and Major Brown had a double and a single for the losers.

No. 1 clinched the title with a 6-2 win over Roma Eterna, as Petrone got the win. Petrone also added two hits, while Owen Robertson stole home and Tom Florence tripled. Rich Diefenderfer and Charles Rice each had two hits for Roma Eterna, with Rice also rapping a double.

U.A. Local 380 won both of its games to move into third place. Against Roma Eterna, Local 380 exploded for 20 hits to give winning pitcher Mike McManus more than enough support. Josh Miller had four hits, Bert Pirone and James Noble each had three, one of Noble's a home run.

Kim Wells and McManus each had two hits, and Scott Roney doubled, while Monica Greenland and Laura Steifel each singled for the winners. Jon Kandell and Steve MacDonald each tripled for Roma.

Local 380 then shaded the Eagles, 10-9, with James Noble picking up the win with help from Billy Sneed and and Josh Miller. Miller had three hits, while Bert Pirone had two and Greg Lieberman had a bases-loaded double to lead

NASSAU CLUB SPLITS

The losers were led by Li Van Horn who finished first in the 10 and under freestyle and backstroke and swam on the 10 and under winning freestyle relay; and Dini Chandra and Barb Van Horn, each of whom won individual events in the 12 and under division and swam on winning relay teams.

15 FAIL TO QUALIFY
For National City Tennis Event. Fifteen young men and women from the Princeton area competed in preliminary tennis matches of the National City Team Tournament last week. Both teams, however, encountered strong competition in regional contests and did not win any berths for the national playoffs to be held in August.

Norm Peck, an instructor in the Princeton Community Tennis Program, chaperoned the girls' team on its trip to Greenwich, Connecticut. Attending were Natalie Usiskin, Carrie Balcomb, Debbie Rentschler, Vera Jesser, Karen Clark, Beth Oglesby, Ann Magee, and Lynn Bittner.

The boys' trip to Washington, D.C., was chaperoned by David Uffelman. Competing were Dan Aronovic, Steve Ebersole, Jeff Lyle, Allen Aronovic, Keith Usiskin, Dan Schulman, and David Bowen.

GREEN TOPS WHITE
In summer Lacrosse. Rain limited action in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League to one game last week, a contest in which undefeated Green decisively won, 12-2.
Bob Wert led the victors (4-0) with three goals and one assist. Trailing Green in the standings are Orange (3-1), Navy (2-1), Red (2-2), White (1-3) and Blue which is winless in three starts.
"We're trying to rescue the schedule," said league director Hawley Waterman, who explained that all the THINKING PLAYOFFS: Tony Cammarate (left) and John Ritter, third baseman and outfielder for third-place Conte's, are thinking playoffs now that Ivy Inn has opened up a commanding lead in the Princeton Adult Softball League. Conte's hopes died last week when it was blanked twice by Ivy.

RUNNERS-UP BOW

To Ivy Inn in Softball. Ivy Inn won three more games last week, blanking Center Sports twice, 6-0 and 2-0, and defeating Conte's, 6-3, its two closest pursuers, to widen its lead in the Princeton Recreation Adult Softball League with a 14-1 record.

In the first Center Sports contest, Tony Boccanfuso stroked two hits, one a triple. Center was limited to five hits. Against Conte's, Ivy built an early lead and held it throughout the game. Boccanfuso again claimed hitting honors for the day with two hits and a sacrifice fly in three at-bats.

The second Center game was scoreless until Ivy pushed across two runs in the top of the last inning. Center then loaded the bases in the bottom half inning, but failed to score. Ivy only produced four hits, two by Rich Valz. Center managed ten hits for the night, but had its rallies cut short.

In other action, CSC defeated Plainsboro Package store, 16-5, as Dave Jackson went four-for-four. Kingston Wine & Liquor stopped a last inning rally to beat Conte's, 8-5. For Kingston, Steve Perone had three hits and Brian Henninger added a homerun. In a losing cause, Jerry Perpetua homered for Conte's.

Andy's demolished CSC, 19-1, to keep its playoff hopes alive. Gene Swanhart collected four hits, while Doug Watson had three, one a homer.

EXCITING TO LIVE IN!

Over the bridge and through the rocks and up in the trees we go! Yet for all its tree house feeling, this intriguing contemporary is solidly anchored into its rockstrewn hillside and practically planned for all age living. The entrance hall opens on a really fantastic living room, 16 x 25, with handsome raised fireplace, built-in planter and oversized sofas, and decorative divider - a combination stereo cabinet, warming counter and china cupboard - separating it from the two-story, glass walled dining area. Equally marvelous in its own way is the super kitchen-playroom-breakfast room. Four good bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, laundry room plus downstairs study and upstairs sitting room - either of which could double as bedrooms - round out the highly liveable living space.

Practical assets include: central air, burglar-fire alarm, central vacuum, dumb waiter up from underhouse carport, excellent condition, fenced child-dog area. NO grounds maintenance! Light abounds throughout from many interestingly designed windows, skylights and window walls, through the house is hidden away in a beautiful wooded Princeton Township setting. To top it off, a sunny roof deck is a natural for a "penthouse" garden!

A STONE HOUSE

as rare as a day in June, this handsome, perfectly maintained home is set on an attractive corner lot in a fine residential area of Pennington. The welcoming entry hall leads to a spacious L-shaped living room with stone fireplace. Down a few steps from the excellent kitchen is a formal dining room that can double as conference room for a home oriented profession. A recreation room, study or fourth bedroom plus roughed in bath, laundry and utility room complete this lower level.

Quality is evident throughout from the full basement with steel beam construction, fine masonry work, and the generous size of the three bedrooms and two tiled baths.

A small terrace to one side of the house, a covered slate patio at the back (great for rainy day barbecues) a lot bordered by pines for complete privacy, and a double attached garage. That's the story of our newest listing.

And one we are proud to present at $88,500.

10 NASSAU STREET
PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY 08540

Phone: (609) 921-1411

Homequity, through its Princeton affiliate King's Grant Real Estate, is pleased to offer an important country property in central New Jersey.

"Elmwood" is a small secluded estate of just over thirteen acres situated in nearby Lawrence Township, only minutes from Princetons' cultural and academic community.

The grounds have been magnificently developed for more than two centuries and beautifully maintained to the present day. Stately trees from colonial times still stand over broad lawns and restful terraces.

The house is authentic Eighteenth Century, that of a prosperous landowner of the Colony. Solidly constructed with thick walls of local stone, the house is simple in basic design yet elaborate in important details.
